GOLDENBERG'S ANNEXATION SALE NEWS.
May seventeenth.
It's a pity
indeed that the prices of the dainty, pretty wash stuffs have to be cut so such a ridiculous lowness, but we really can't see how we're going to get the wall adjoining this department, which has to be torn down, unless the stock is removed. That's what these cut prices are for. We must reduce this stock this week to that extent, for Rebuilding
starts at once.
We haven't excepted a single piece of the new wash stuffs, and the prices are lower by far than you've ever paid.

GENERAL BOND'S DEFENSE
The Sealer of Weights and Measures Meets His Accusers.
He Claims to Have Complied Fully With the Law, and Challenges Proof to the Contrary.
A special meeting of the board of Commissioners was held this morning at 11 o'clock, to hear the reply of General F. A. Bond, sealer of weights and measures, to the charges recently made against him by a committee representing the Washington Coal Exchange.
General Bond preceded his answer to the direct charges by a brief statement of his connection with the office. He came into the service of the District, he said, a little more than four years ago. No man was turned out to put him in, the incumbent at the time of the change being in trouble, with an indictment hanging over his head. While he came into the office when not a resident of the city, he had had business interests in Washington for many years, having been the sole owner of the Merchants' Parcel Delivery Company. He did not make an application for the position, it was tendered him, although, of course, he knew his friends were working for him.
When he entered upon his duties, he said, he found everything in the office of the District who had been in office for fifteen or twenty years. It was representative of the fact that as long as a man did his duty he would not be disturbed. He determined to make a good record and believed he had done so.
Change in the Law.
Upon assuming the duties he found the law governing the sealer of weights and measures to be the same that had been in vogue for eighty years. It was a law of the sealer collecting all fees and paying all the expenses of the office. He was looked upon by the merchants, he said, as a pirate, whose only object was to grab everything in sight.
Realizing that there should be a change in the law, he laid the matter before the Commissioners, and upon their order drafted a bill which passed the lower house of Congress without charge, but received slight amendment in the Senate. The bill provided for a law through his personal efforts on the last day of the session, and he was instrumental in changing the law relating to the old time "taper measure," which was always an unpopular means of measuring.
Continuing in answer to the direct charges, General Bond said:
"In response to the communication of Messrs. Merrill, Stevenson and Werner, have the honor to say that all scales in the city of Columbia have received careful attention, and none have been certified as correct unless well within the amount of tolerance prescribed by your honorable body."
The Requirements.
"An order of the board, dated April 23, 1896, directs the sealer of weights and measures to seize and destroy, or condemn until repaired, any scale that is incorrect to the amount of one ounce in each four pounds. This amounts to thirty-five pounds to each ton of 2,240 pounds, and as the team is always based at the instance of the coal is weighed, the weight scales is never under two tons for each ton. By the positive order of the board it is compulsory with us to certify to the correctness of a coal scale that does not show a variation in weight of more than one to each three tons, and to challenge any to specify a case where this order has ever been violated."
"The invariable rule that when a scale is incorrect to a noticeable extent, I write the amount of error on the ticket and ask the owner to have it repaired. As to the scales of the scales are not tested to their full capacity, I have acknowledged that this is manifestly incorrect. The total amount of weights furnished by the scales is 100,000 pounds, supplemented by weighing the horse and wagon, but more than that cannot be done. I have the honor to certify that a scale that will weigh one ton correctly will weigh correctly to the full capacity."
Attacks Mr. Werner.
"As to Mr. Werner's complaint of the incorrectness of the scale at the Soldiers' Home, he is entirely at fault. The law creating this office specially exempts all government scales from our inspection, although we are frequently requested to examine such scales and always comply. We can only give information, but have no authority to condemn. Mr. Werner has particularly unhappy referring to this case, as it appears he gave very short weight in a lot of coal furnished that institution, and he called upon me repeatedly to help him out of the scale. I twice examined the scale at the Soldiers' Home, but could not find anything radically wrong with it."
"If further information on this point is necessary I request that Major Parker of the Soldiers' Home be called upon. Undoubtedly it is very true that it is very natural that Mr. Werner should be the present sealer of weights and measures removed."
"I desire to call attention here to the fact that this being a salaried office, although fees are collected sufficient to make it self-supporting, there is no reason for the sealer to discriminate against the coal dealers, and I feel it to be my duty to ask the board to carefully consider if it would be wise to have a sealer of weights and measures appointed at the instance of the 'Coal Dealers' Association.' It might be to the interest of the coal buyers to have the sealer of scales who, for a good cause, had become unpopular with a limited number of coal dealers."
Absence of Motive.
"There being no motive for the sealer of weights and measures to make an incorrect test of scales, and no proof that he has done so, the only question, in my opinion, that remains to be considered is, has due diligence and attention been given to the scales? In reply, I point with pride to the amount of fees collected and turned over to the collector of taxes. An examination of the sworn reports on file in the secretary's office will show that the sealer of weights and measures has given an average nearly double of that of any former incumbent of the office."
"During the past fiscal year there was condemned or destroyed 157 scales, several of them coal scales; 50 weights, 7 liquid measures and 93 dry measures."
There was a general discussion of the ways and means employed by the sealer in testing scales, and then the hearing closed.
